

Relaxing forest bathing

Forests have always had a calming and relaxing effect on people. Forest bathing and its healing benefits were scientifically studied in Japan decades ago. The sounds of the forest, the fresh air, and sunlight filtering through the green canopy allow us to slow down and find inner peace. This is the foundation of Native Nature.

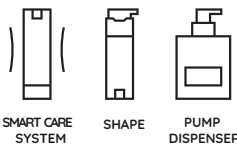

Native Nature captivates with a 100% upcycled fragrance featuring refreshing notes of recycled sandalwood, fir needles, and cedarwood. Vegan formulations enriched with carefully selected oils complete the experience.
